WEEKLY SUMMARY

FOR WEEK ENDED JULY 6, 1979

MOST WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN MARKETS MOVE SHARPLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Most wheat and feed grain markets moved sharply higher following the lower trend late last week. Sparking price advances was; reports of a record high gold market, continued drought in parts of the U.S.S.R. and Europe, dry conditions in parts of the U.S. corn and soybean belt. Contributing support was rain delayed U.S. wheat harvest, slow selling at the farm level and continued heavy export activity.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets responded to rain delayed hard red winter wheat harvest, tight farm holding and strong export demand. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded 12 cents higher. This is $1.32 over year ago price. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved up 18 cents, up $1.45 compared with last season. Soft red winter wheat harvest moved northward into Illinois but no new crop wheat has reached the Chicago market.

Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat moved up following the West Coast export market. Prices rose 9 cents on all protein values with 14 percent, $1.42 over last year. Medium milling quality hard amber durum fell 25 cents, but this is $1.50 over year ago level. Portland soft white wheat traded 18 cents higher or $1.11 over last season.

CORN:

Good export sales augmented by this week's large sales announced for unknown destination supported climbing yellow corn markets. Light farm selling coupled with some dry areas in the Corn Belt added support. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved up 20 cents or 68 cents a bushel over year ago figure. Kansas City white corn bids ranged 5 cents higher as traders attempted to pull stocks off farms. Prices remain 17 cents below year ago levels and farmers offered little white corn for sale.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets moved in a mixed price trend as a short work week kept traders confused as to market direction. Demand turned slack as several mills took down time. Export sales supported barley at port markets. Chicago heavy oats moved up 5 cents and this price is 29 cents over year ago level. The Minneapolis market fell 8 to 10 cents as mill buying turned slack this week. Minneapolis best malting barley fell 10 cents due to slowed malster buying but current price is 50 to 65 cents over last year. Minneapolis feed barley ranged 25 cents higher with some malting barley moving to the feed trade. Stockton barley traded 5 to 7 cents higher per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Rain delayed Texas sorghum harvest and farmers held stocks tight. Kansas City sorghum traded 46 cents higher or $1.47 per hundred pounds over last year at the same date. Texas High Plains sorghum price rose 30 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Most oilseed markets made sharp recovery from last week's losses in spite of lower than expected inspections for export report. Dryness in part of the Soybean Belt contributed support. Producer selling remains limited. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 21 cents per bushel or 81 cents above year ago price. Minneapolis flaxseed turned 60 cents lower per bushel as crushers switched to sunflower seed. Current flax price is $2.25 over comparable date last year. Duluth sunflower seed market rose 20 cents to $14.50 per hundred pounds or $4.20 above last season. Exporters competed with crushers for sunflower seed offerings.

FOR WEEK ENDED JULY 12

CASH GRAIN PRICES LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain prices opened the trading period ending July 12 slightly lower, gained some strength, then fell sharply on the last trading day. Early strength was generally attributed to export activity during the early part of the period as well as world strength in the precious metal markets. The downtown was spurred by world production of grain report that estimated major crops at higher levels than trade expectations. The major feature in the report was the expected increase in oilseed producing crops in the U.S. as well as competing crops throughout the world. World wheat production in 1979/80 will likely be down about 7 percent from the 1978/79 crop with sharper reduction in many major producing countries. Coarse grain production is expected to be down about 5 percent from the record 1978/79 crop. Also the strikes at two major exporting points brought about weakness.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets opened the period with some strength but dropped sharply at the end. The USDA on July 12, released estimates of production for U.S. winter wheat at 1.56 billion bushels, up 25 percent over a year ago. Spring wheat other than durum is set at 429 million, about 3 percent more than last year. The U.S. crop harvest was disrupted again this week by rain. Throughout Kansas, elevators are reportedly filling and reporting problems getting equipment to move the grain. At Kansas City hard red winter ordinary wheat traded 26 cents lower. Soft red winter wheat at Chicago moved 22 cents lower but still $1.11 per bushel over a year ago. At Minneapolis dark northern spring ordinary dropped 22 cents while the 14 percent closed 20 cents lower. Durum held fairly firm in good demand and closed down 5 cents. At portland, soft white wheat closed 22 cents lower.

CORN:

Corn markets found good interest throughout the period from export activity. Throughout the week heavy export sales were registered for the 1978/79 marketing year and considerable volume extending into the 1979/80 marketing year. Softening the corn market late was the estimated world production estimates setting the coarse grain production for 1979/80 only slightly below the 1978/79 record crop. Country selling throughout the U.S. was fairly slow and sharply feeling the effect of the trimmer strike in Chicago. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow corn closed 11 cents lower per bushel, yet about '70 cents above a year earlier. At Kansas City, white corn held unchanged while yellow moved 16 cents lower.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Narrow supplies held barley steady throughout the period. The July 1 USDA estimate of production for 1979 set barley at 345 million bushels, down sharply from last years' 447 million bushels. Oats continued to find good demand for the light offerings and offset the downturns of other grains closing unchanged to slightly lower. At Chicago, No. 2 heavy oats declined 4 cents while 8 cent drops were registered at Minneapolis. Malting barley at Minneapolis was unchanged to 5 cents higher. Feed barley lost 5 cents at Minneapolis, while West Coast deliveries advanced with Los Angeles up 2 to 3 cents and Portland 22 cents higher.

SORGHUM:

Harvest resumed in Texas, however, supplies were not readily offered. The sorghum market generally felt the weakening influence of the corn complex. Export demand firmed the Gulf basis. Kansas City sorghum traded 23 cents lower per cwt. Texas High Plains was 5 to 10 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets dropped sharply. World oilseed production is projected at a record level for the 1979/80 crop and expected to reach 174 million tons, up about 15 million tons from the 1978/79 crop, mainly because of increased planted acreage. Along with increased soybean acreage, competing oilseed crops are expected to show expansion. At Chicago, No. 1 yellow soybeans moved 34 cents lower yet 73 cents above last year. Flaxseed at Minneapolis dropped 10 cents per bushel while sunflower seed at Duluth gained 20 cents, per cwt in light supply.

WEEKLY SUMMARY

FOR WEEK ENDED JULY 19

GRAIN MARKETS MOVED MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Grain markets moved higher throughout the trading period but turned sharply lower on July 19. Bearing strongly on the weaker markets was the work stopages by export elevator employees at the Duluth-Superior and at Chicago. Rail cars remain very tight and barge freight rates are continuing to move higher reflective of strong demand and high fuel cost. Exports of all grains for the week ending July 13 established an all-time record high.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved in independent direction during the trading period. At Minneapolis and Chicago the markets were affected by the labor stoppages and dropped sharply on the last day of the period. Wheat harvest is moving rapidly northward with 59 percent of the winter crop cut as of July 15. This compares with 72 percent last year and the usual average of 74 percent. Spring wheat heading in the North Central states is about equal to last year and not far behind the average. Loadings of white wheat were light and new export demand was light. Movements from the country were light. At Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein closed 6 cents above last week; at Chicago, soft red winter wheat moved 12 cents lower while 14 percent protein dark northern spring at Minneapolis moved 6 cents lower. Medium milling quality durum at Minneapolis eased off 5 cents per bushel, and soft white wheat at Portland grained 2 cents.

CORN:

Corn markets fluctuated widely throughout the period closing in a range of 6 cents higher to 8 cents lower. Processor demand was active throughout and export demand at the Gulf added strength. During the period widespread rainfall over the corn belt generated some producer selling of both old crop and new crop corn. In the eastern part of the corn belt, growth continued to exceed last year and almost reached the normal average. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow corn closed 6 cents higher, 80 cents above a year ago. At Kansas City white corn held steady and yellow corn was fractionally lower.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Barley markets were influenced by the strikes in Duluth-Superior which cut off most the export interest. New-crop oats from the Iowa area began reaching upper Midwest millers, causing a softening effect on the market. With lower production estimates, some underlying strength exists. At Chicago, No. 2 heavy oats closed 8 cents lower. Malting barley 65 percent or better plump at Minneapolis was unchanged to 15 cents lower while feed barley was 15 cents lower at Minneapolis, 7 cents lower at Portland but gained 2 cents at Los Angeles.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets were narrowly lower in the Midwest but stronger in the West Coast. Harvest in the Texas area surpassed the 20 percent complete stage with heading beginning in the Oklahoma-Kansas producing area. At Kansas City, sorghum closed a penny lower per cwt and unchanged to 5 cents lower at Texas High Plains area.

OILSEEDS:

Strong export demand and an aggressive processor interest moved soybean prices sharply each day during the trading period. Selling at country level was sporadic with fair movement on market highs and dropping off when prices declined. Planting of double-cropped land neared completion. In the eastern north central states, bloom reached the 25 to 40 percent stage. Some pod setting is occurring in the southern producing states. No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 15 cents higher at Chicago, 31 to 35 cents higher at Illinois processing plants. Flaxseed and sunflower seed markets were inactive.

FOR WEEK ENDED JULY 26, 1979

GRAIN MARKETS LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets closed out the trading period ending July 27 moderately to sharply lower. The sharp downturn began Monday reflective of heavy country movement making space for upcoming harvest and relocation of the bumper wheat crop from the Kansas area. General rains fell throughout the corn and soybean belts offsetting some of the concern of dry weather damage. In the U.S.S.R. rains reduced the concern for spring crop but has disrupted harvest of winter grain crops. On Thursday, cutbacks in country movements and a good export demand generally turned the markets higher. Movements from Duluth-Superior and Chicago remain stopped by the labor strikes. On Friday, an agreement was reached with the grain trimmers in Chicago, and loading operations were resumed.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed moderately lower compared to a week ago with sharp dips about mid-session. Offerings into the market were fairly heavy with relocation of hard wheat and the active beginning soft wheat harvest furnished generous supply. White wheat markets were generally easier with producers more interested in harvesting the crop than in marketing. Export interest was light awaiting new crop supply. Spring wheat markets felt the effect of the work stoppage at Duluth-Superior. Without the export outlet, considerable volume is being reallocated for barge shipment to the Gulf. At Kansas City, No. 1 hard winter ordinary closed 4 cents lower, while 13 percent protein moved 5 cents lower. Soft red winter wheat at Chicago moved 9 cents lower while 14 percent spring at Minneapolis was also 9 cents lower. Soft white at Portland was 2 cents lower. Very little interest was shown in the durum markets and medium milling quality held unchanged at Minneapolis. Rye markets were generally easier reflecting nearness of new crop.

CORN:

Corn markets moved lower throughout the period.

Processor demand eased off and much of the export booked grain was already committed. Rain throughout the corn belt offset some of the concern of dry weather stress. At Chicago No. 2 yellow corn closed 14 cents per bushel lower and 18 cents lower at Kansas City. White corn Kansas City moved 5 cents lower.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets moved lower reflective of generously offered new crop oats into the market. New crop oats out of the Iowa area is reportedly excellent quality. Heavy receipts of barley were moving into Minneapolis. At Minneapolis, 65 or better plump malting barley was 10 to 15 cents lower, while feed barley traded 12 cents lower. No. 2 white oats Minneapolis was 12 to 15 cents lower while Chicago was 16 cents lower.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets moved lower following the lead of the corn markets. Heavy rains throughout the Texas area stopped harvest activity late in the period. At Kansas City sorghum closed 22 cents per cwt lower and Texas High Plains markets moved 25 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved sharply lower. Export demand was sharply weaker and processor demand could not offset the weakness. On Friday a work agreement with the Chicago trimmers union was negotiated and a ship of soybeans was to begin loading immediately. Crop prospects look extremely good throughout the major producing areas. Sunflower and flaxseed markets were inactive. No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 20 cents lower at Chicago and 18 to 23 cents lower at Illinois processing points.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Grain prices moved sharply lower during the week ending August 2. The downturns were reflective of improved growing conditions in the corn and soybean belts; announcement of the discontinuance of the set-aside program for the 1980 wheat crop; slow down in export activity following the recent tropical storm; and continuance of grain harvest. Also exerting caution was the anticipation of the first yield estimates of corn and soybeans to be released based on August 1 conditions. Short session strength was noted mid-session when some of the government controlled grains were removed from release status.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets were irregularly lower. Modification in the 1980 wheat program which eliminated the set-aside requirements for participation in government loan programs generated a weakening effect late in the period. During the early part of the session the continuance of harvest and difficulty in movements lessened buying interest. Export demand was generally weak with some gulf elevators temporarily embargoed due to build-up of railroad cars. Flour mill interest was spotty and only for immediate needs. Work stoppages continue at Duluth-Superior export elevators disrupting marketings in the spring wheat areas. Pacific Northwest markets felt the pressure of weaker midwest markets and the heavy movements of new crop supply. Export movements remain moderate for the white wheat. At Kansas City No. 1 hard winter ordinary protein closed 26 lower per bushel. Soft red winter at Chicago moved 12 cents lower while 14 percent protein spring wheat at Minneapolis declined 17 cents. Soft white wheat at Portland moved 32 cents lower. Durum and rye markets were lower reflecting inactive marketing and nearness of new-crop supply. At Minneapolis, medium milling quality durum closed 25 to 40 cents lower and rye closed 5 to 10 cents lower.

CORN:

Corn prices declined throughout the period except for short term strength on the announcement that the Soviet Union would be allowed to increase purchases during the 4th year of the marketing agreement. Weighing heavily was the anticipation prior to the August 1 crop report that will be released next week. During the week, rains fell over much of the corn belt improving prospects for the 79 crop. Resumption of export loadings in Chicago generated some localized strength. At Chicago No. 2 yellow corn closed 16 cents lower per bushel; at Kansas City 19 cents lower. White corn at Kansas City closed 25 cents lower.

OATS AND BARLEY:

The oats market was a slow trader with buyers very selective on new-crop offerings. Barley markets were also weak with heavy receipts. At Minneapolis, 65 percent or better plump malting barley moved 20 to 25 cents lower while feed barley closed down 15 cents. No. 2 heavy white oats at Minneapolis moved 6 to 13 cents lower and at Chicago down 6 cents.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets followed corn lower. Harvest resumed in South Texas after the recent heavy rains. The good demand from exporters and domestic users could not offset the overriding weakness from competitive products. At Kansas City, No. 2 yellow grain sorghum moved downward 33 cents while the Texas High Plains markets closed 25 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Improved crop prospects and cut back in export interest pushed soybean prices sharply lower with wide daily price swings. Processor demand held aggressive with immediate supply in strong demand. Country selling remained light and movements restricted by rail car shortages. No. 1 yellow soybeans at Chicago closed 22 cents lower and at Illinois processing points down 31 cents.

WEEKLY SUMMARY

FOR WEEK ENDED AUGUST 9.

GRAIN MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Grain markets closed in a mixed price trend across the Nation during the week ended August 9. Market support originated in heavy export movement coupled with prospects for continued demand for american grain to supply a world shortage. Firm to stronger silver and gold markets contributed strength. Causing market easiness was congestion at Gulf and West Coast ports and a port elevator strike at Duluth.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed mostly stronger in spite of rapid harvest rate with reports of more grain piled on the ground in the Pacific Northwest. Heavy export movement, prospects of additional export wheat and flour business and well regulated farm selling contributed support. Kansas City ordinary wheat eased 2 cents lower while good flour mill demand moved 13 percent protein up 5 cents per bushel. Current prices ranges 94 cents to $1.11 above year ago market.

Chicago soft red winter wheat moved up 1 cent compared with last week and 84 cents over year ago. Minneapolis dark northern spring ordinary wheat traded 1 cent above last week and $1.05 over last season. Medium milling hard amber durum held at last weeks price level, up $1.10 from last year. Portland soft white wheat advanced 6 to 10 cents which is 74 to 78 cents above last year.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets showed surprising strength in face of the near record crop prospects as new export business continued to add measurably to toal potential sales. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn ranged 7 cents higher, up 66 cents compared with last season. Kansas City white corn fell 10 cents with extremely slow buying interest. Current price is 32 cents under year ago price level.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved higher as mill demand expanded.

Chicago market rose 6 cents while the Minneapolis market went up 2 to 7 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley moved steady to 5 cents lower, to 55 cents above last year. Rain delayed harvest contributed some support but failed to completely offset last weeks' harvest pressure losses. Portland feed barley moved 14 cents higher, up 56 cents compared with year ago market.

OILSEEDS:

Timely rains benefitted the potentially large soybean crop forcing markets lower. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 10 cents, up 86 cents over the comparable time last season. Minneapolis and Duluth showed no nearby sunflower seed bids but October-November delivery ranged 30 cents lower at $11.00 Minneapolis and down 25 cents to $11.25 per hundred pounds at Duluth.

WEEKLY SUMMARY
FOR WEEK ENDED AUGUST 16, 1979

WHEAT AND MOST FEED GRAIN MARKETS MOVE HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and most feed grain markets moved higher across the nation during the week ended August 16. Market had dropped sharply early in the period when crop reports indicated potentially large production. Later in the week reports showed larger than expected draw down of supply. This coupled with unseasonably cold temperatures in the northern tier of states and in Canada moved most wheat and feed grain markets sharply higher. Trade speculation on China becoming a customer for expanded wheat and feed grains contributed strength toward the end of the period.

WHEAT:

Unseasonably cold weather in Canada and in the northern tier of U.S. States moved wheat markets sharply higher. Actual damage to wheat and feed grain crops has not been assessed. Kansas City hard red winter wheat traded 6 cents lower early in the week but moved up 16 cents over last weeks close for ordinary protein. This is $1.00 over year ago market. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 22 cents higher, up 97 cents over year ago under expanded mill buying interest.

Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat closed 13 to 16 cents higher with 14 pct protein up 13 cents, rising $1.05 compared to same period last season. Portland soft white wheat traded 11 to 19 cents higher, up 75 to 88 cents compared with last season.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved higher as unseasonably cold temperatures threatened the growing crop. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved 2 cents higher, 64 cents over last season for hopper car delivery. Kansas City white corn held unchanged at last weeks lower price. Current price is 27 cents under year ago market.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats market moved mixed with a dull buying interest forcing Chicago heavy oats 1 cent lower. Minneapolis mill buying interest moved oats 8 cents higher, up 22 to 24 cents over last season. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to up 15 cents. This is 10 to 40 cents per bushel over year ago market. Minneapolis feed barley market slow but good malster demand moved the market up 5 cents, 40 to 50 cents higher than a year ago.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum buying interest switched to new crop Texas production but the Kansas City market moved up 5 cents following stronger yellow corn markets. Texas High Plains market unchanged to 5 cents lower per hundred pounds. Current sorghum markets are about $1.00 above year ago.

OILSEEDS:

Threat of freeze damage to fall harvested crops forced soybean markets sharply higher. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 24 cents, up 76 cents a bushel over comparable time last year. Minneapolis flaxseed ranged 25 cents higher, up $1.50 compared with last season.

WEEKLY SUMMARY

For Week Ended August 23

MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mixed across the nation during the week ended August 23.

Market prices showed wide swings in response to weather reports which included heavy rains accompanied by flooding in parts of the central midwest. Russian grain harvest made good progress. Australia sold Russia 2 million tons of wheat for January-July 1980 shipment. Thailand sold fair quantities of corn to Japan and Taiwan. Congestion at U.S. Ports and terminal elevators discouraged buying, especially of corn as harvest nears. Corn and sorghum crops remain vulnerable to frost and freeze damage in the upper midwest.

WHEAT:

Wheat traded in the wide price swings responding to heavy disappearance, improved harvest progress in Russia and congestion at ports. Good flour mill demand contributed support. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved up 2 cents, 85 cents over year ago price. Chicago soft red winter wheat fell 5 cents, 86 cents over year ago market. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 pct protein moved up 5 cents, up $1.06 compared with last season. Portland soft white wheat went down 6 to 7 cents. This is 66 to 68 cents over year ago figure.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets declined at all reporting points except Minneapolis where light offerings offset the lack of buyer interest. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn fell 5 cents under pressure of declining export buying interest and nearby new crop harvest. Kansas City white corn moved lower at mid-week but closed unchanged. This is 12 cents per bushel below year ago price.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats market declined in sympathy with corn in spite of fair mill buying interest. Chicago market finished 3 cents lower, 15 cents over comparable time last year. Barley markets were supported by declining production prospects. Minneapolis best malting barley advanced 5 to 15 cents, up 30 to 45 cents over year ago. Portland feed barley went up 5 cents, supported by new sales for export to Taiwan and Japan.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum closed unchanged in the Texas High Plains market but fell 12 cents at Kansas City. Current sorghum markets are 90 cents to $1.00 per hundred pounds over year ago.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets showed a mixed price trend as the market responded to varying pressures. Stronger silver and oil markets coupled with possibility of an early frost gave support. Contributing weakness was the larger Brazil soybean crop prospects (than previous year) and slowed export demand due to slowed ship loading causing demurrage payments at ports. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans eased 2 cents lower, up 60 cents per bushel from last season. Illinois Processor Point soybeans ranged 7 to 8 cents higher. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 25 cents after recent freeze damage to the new crop and lack of country selling.

WEEKLY SUMMARY

FOR WEEK ENDED AUGUST 30

SOYBEANS LOWER, MOST OTHER MARKETS STRONGER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybeans moved lower while most wheat and feed grains moved to higher price levels during the week ended August 30. All wheat, feed grain and oilseed markets showed advances when compared with year ago figures. Markets failed to establish firm trading direction as new export sales activity declined, Duluth-Superior Port and Rock Island railroad strikes hampered grain movement in the upper Midwest. Excessive rain threatened quality and maturity of crops in several locations at the close, heavy soybeans delivery intentions at Chicago and a ship-barge collision on the Mississippi River near New Orleans contributed weakness. Strong precious metals markets and higher soybean oil prices added strength.

WHEAT:

Higher precious metals and feed grain prices advance gave wheat strong support. All wheat markets except Portland white wheat showed advance. Portland white wheat traded 1 to 3 cents per bushel lower as lack of new vessel arrivals caused congestion at the Ports. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved 6 cents higher, $1.02 above comparable market last season. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 12 cents, up $1.04 compared with last year. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein went up 10 cents, up $1.12 from last year.

CORN:

Rainy weather over much of the Corn Belt and over Texas grain sorghum acreage raised buyer bids for feed grains. The Rock Island railroad strike further tightened offerings in the Upper Midwest adding strength to feed grains in position to move to ports and to feed mixers. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn traded 8 cents higher, up 73 cents compared to a year ago.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Rain damage to oats and barley caused traders to reach for undamaged early harvested grain. Prices advanced 1 cent for Chicago heavy oats, 23 cents a bushel over year ago market. Minneapolis best malting barley rose 40-45 cents per bushel, up 75-90 cents over last season. Stockton feed barley closed unchanged to 3 cents higher, 41-44 cents over last season.

SORGHUM:

Strong yellow corn and increased feed mixer interest contributed strength to sorghum markets. Rain delaying Texas sorghum harvest added strength. Kansas City multi-car sorghum advanced 12 cents and Texas High Plains market moved steady to up 5 cents. Current sorghum prices are about $1.10 per hundred pounds over last season.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets showed an uneven trend all week. Strong precious metals and oil markets coupled with rain threatening maturity and quality over much of the corn and soybean belt contributed support. Slowed soybean processing and a drop off in export volume added to large soybean delivery intentions at Chicago weighed against values. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybean closed 2 cents lower, 70 cents over last year.

Minneapolis flaxseed went up 5 cents per bushel as farmers held the short crop for higher prices. Minneapolis sunflower seed traded 10 cents higher, 30 cents over year ago market.

WEEKLY SUMMARY

FOR WEEK ENDED SEPTEMBER 6

GRAIN MARKET LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets closed out the trading period ending September 6 lower. Sharp downturns were registered Tuesday after three days of ideal growing weather throughout the major corn and soybean producing areas. Continued strikes at Duluth-Superior and embargo situations at several other locations reduced export activity. Also affecting marketing was the continued strike by a major railroad.

WHEAT:

Export interest in wheat dropped off during the period however most of the weakness was sympathy to the downturns in corn and soybeans. Portland white wheat traded 17-21 cents lower. At Kansas City, No. 1 hard red winter ordinary declined 18 cents, soft red winter at Chicago closed 22 3/4 lower, yet 77 1/2 cents above last year. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent declined 18 1/2 cents but was about 90 cents above a year earlier. Durum advanced with stiff competition between exporters and millers for the meager supply.

CORN:

Corn markets fell sharply on Tuesday after 3 days of ideal growing weather over the holiday weekend and the forecast for continued good growing weather the next few days. On Thursday a private forecast estimated of a further record crop. Supporting the market was the estimate of increased exports to Japan during the next year for all coarse grains. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn traded 15 1/4 lower but about 58 3/4 cents above a year ago.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Strong demand from malsters moved top quality barley higher with heavy discounts for high protein material. With increased prices, country selling picked up. Feed Barley at midwest points followed the stronger malting higher, however, west coast markets moved lower. At Minneapolis, best quality malting traded 5-15 cents higher while feed barley advanced 12 cents to $2.32 per bushel. Stockton feed barley closed 2-5 lower. Mill demand for oats was strong at the end of the period. Much of the rain stained oats are of good quality. At Chicago, No. 2 heavy oats traded 3/4 cents higher.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets generally followed the corn markets during the period. Impacting independently was the release of sorghum from the Farmer owned reserve program late in the period. At Kansas City, multi-car sorghum traded 23 cents percent lower at $4.25 per cwt. and Texas High Plains were unchanged to 10 cents lower.

OILSEED MARKETS:

Sharp drops were registered in the oilseed markets on Tuesday with slight recovery shown on Wednesday. With good growing conditions over most of the major producing belt, prospects of a bumper crop continues. Late a private estimate predicted a further record crop. With many of the processors closed for seasonal repairs, demand for immediate supply is not aggressive. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 30 cents lower, yet 52 cents above a year ago. Flaxseed dropped 10 cents as many of the plants made repairs prior to new-crop flax and sunflower production. Sunflower seed markets for immediate or September delivery fell 20-40 cents.

WEEKLY
SUMMARY
AND STATISTICS

September 14, 1979

GRAIN MARKETS MOSTLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets closed out the trading period ending September 13 higher than the previous Thursday. Markets moved narrowly during the early part of the week then shot sharply higher on the closing day. The push upward resulted from reports of less than expected world production and cold weather moving into the upper midwest. The rail strike throughout the midwest continues to cause movement problems, however, productive talks at Duluth-Superior generated strength.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved sharply higher with most of the strength brought about by reports of reduced foreign crop. The 79 U.S. wheat crop is estimated at 2.12 billion up 18 percent from last year, however, reduced world crop should draw heavily upon U.S. supply. At Portland, white wheat closed 18 cents higher at $4.43 as logistics continued to create movement problems. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein closed 32 3/4 higher which is $1.66 above a comparable date last year. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 22½ higher per bushel Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent went up 28 cents.

CORN:

Fair steadiness prevailed throughout most of the period then, like other grains, moved sharply higher at the close of the session. Predictions of low temperatures over much of the corn belt influenced concern. Early in the period favorable maturing weather provided a cushioning effect. The rail strike continues to restrict movements in the Iowa area and barge loading points are finding problems of getting corn to move down river. The USDA crop estimate for 79 at 7.27 billion bushels. This is about 3 percent above last years record crop. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow corn closed 11 cents above a week ago and 72 cents above last year.

OATS & BARLEY:

Milling demand for oats was strong throughout the period and prices moved generally stronger. Barley prices were mixed with western markets slightly stronger but Minneapolis turned sharply lower as elevator space at interior and export locations were filled. At Minneapolis No. 3 or better malting barley closed 25 cents lower and feed type dropped 32 cents. No. 2 white oats traded 6½ cents higher at Chicago.

SORGHUM

Sorghum traded in a dull market most of the week but with more interest shown as the corn market moved higher and rains delayed new crop harvest in the southwest. At Kansas City, multi-car sorghum advanced 16 cents while Texas High Plains markets moved slightly higher.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets moved narrowly during the period then shot sharply higher at the period close. With the new crop development lagging in most areas and concern over frost temperature, the markets moved upward. The USDA crop estimate of 2.17 billion bushels, released on Wednesday was somewhat less than expected. This coupled with a reduced world supply pushed prices sharply higher. Chicago No. 2 yellow soybeans closed 29 cents higher and about 70 cents above last year. At Minneapolis, flaxseed eased off 15 cents as crushers were not pushing the market.

STATISTICS

CASH GRAIN MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets closed out the trading period ending September 20 on a mixed note. Gains and losses were recorded within the individual grains dependent upon local market demands. Late in the period the Rock Island Railroad was ordered back to operation, however, the work stoppage at Duluth-Superior continues. Mid period strength was brought about by a report from the Soviet Union that the grain crop in that country would be somewhat less than previously predicted. Also casting overall market strength was the continuous rise in precious metal markets around the world.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved independently during the trading period. Hard wheat prices showed strength mid period, but turned mostly weaker near the close. Buyers were very selective in their purchasing activities. At the peak, selling was fairly heavy, especially in the low protein wheats. Export demand dropped sharply near the close. Soft Red Winter wheat found little demand and closed lower at most markets. Planting of the 1980 crop is progressing rapidly into the great plains areas. White wheat markets moved sharply lower as port congestion hampered movements. Low protein spring wheats were abundant and prices dropped sharply while high proteins withheld. Elevator space in the upper midwest is becoming very tight with some pressure to move wheat prior to corn and soybean harvest. At Kansas City, No. 1 Hard Winter Ordinary Protein closed $5\frac{1}{2}$ lower. Soft Red Winter at Chicago lost $10\frac{1}{2}$ cents and Soft White wheat at Portland lost 9-15 cents. Dark Northorn Spring Ordinary Protein at Minneapolis lost $17\frac{1}{4}$ to $20\frac{1}{4}$ protein $20\frac{1}{4}$ to $$4.25\frac{1}{4}$ and 15 percent $20\frac{1}{4}$.

CORN:

Nearness of new-crop harvest was the predominate weight in the corn markets. Good feeder and export demand offset some of the pressure. Crop maturity continues at a rapid pace, and major producing areas will be beyond the frost-damage stage by the end of September. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow corn closed $4\frac{1}{2}$ lower while the Kansas City market moved $\frac{1}{4}$ higher.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved mostly upward as mill demand kept good quality grain cleared from the market. The release of oats from the Farmer-owned reserve had little impact upon the terminal prices. Barley markets were generally easier due to lack of storage space at major terminals. At Minneapolis, No. 3 or better malting barley closed unchanged to 5 cents lower while feed barley gained 10 cents. No. 2 heavy oats at Chicago gained $\frac{1}{4}$ cents.

SORGHUM:

Rain delayed harvest in the southern areas and bids mostly ranged higher, with some weakness in the Kansas City truck market, as local new-crop supplies began to move. Multi-car sorghum Kansas City gained a penny while truck grain dropped 3-7 cents. Texas high plains prices were 10 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved sharply during the period, mostly, reflecting the sharp advance of Gold and Silver prices on the world markets. With the sharp gains in metal prices many merchants were hedging the price increase with purchases of soybean contracts. On Thursday, USDA released the crop year ending stocks figures. The figures show carryover stocks of old crop soybeans at 173 million bushels, up 8 percent from last year and 68 percent above 1977. Disappearance during the marketing year (Sept. 78 - Aug. 79) totalled 1.83 billion bushels, 7 percent above last year. Crushings accounted for 1.02 billion bushels, while exports utilized about 755 million and seed consumed 75 million bushels. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow soybeans closed $13\frac{1}{4}$ lower.

WEEKLY
SUMMARY
AND STATISTICS

SEPTEMBER 28, 1979

GRAIN MARKETS TURN HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets traded steady early in the period and rose sharply at the close with most grains showing price increases. The upturn was brought about by record high world gold and silver prices and a renewed demand for soy products into the European markets. Harvest of fall crop grains is in full swing throughout the major producing belt. Predictions of rain for the next few days also added general strength. The work stoppage at Duluth-Superior was solved and heavy export activity through that port has restarted. The Rock Island railroad was also about to renew operations.

WHEAT:

Most wheat markets closed sharply higher based on more than some of the major using country crops that were less than previously expected. Exporters were active buyers both for current and future delivery. Expected rail rate increases to be imposed October 1 put added pressure on immediate orders. White wheat markets were less aggressive than other classes as large supplies were at port locations. Also hampering the market was slow arrival of ships.

CORN:

Corn markets worked lower throughout most of the week but turned sharply higher at the close. The upturn was brought about by predictions of rain throughout the corn belt, tight producer holdings, and a pickup in export demand.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Very little action was reported in the oat and barley markets with the strength a carryover from the other grains. Feed barley found domestic and export demand and gained 32 cents.

SORGHUM:

Lack of offerings and advancing corn markets generally pushed sorghum markets higher. Export price gains out-moved the domestic increase.

OILSEEDS:

Generally lower markets held throughout the trading period, but shot sharply higher at the close. A strong demand for soybean meal into the European market surfaced late and active trading started. Many of the crushing plants are reporting sold out positions into mid-October. Also impacting heavily was the record high gold and silver markets on Thursday.

WEEKLY SUMMARY

For Week Ended October 4

SOYBEANS WEAKER - WHEAT STRONG FEED GRAINS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Most wheat and feed grains moved stronger across the nation during the week ended October 4.

Soybean markets fell sharply under new crop harvest pressure. Feed grains moved mixed with most markets posting higher prices due to expanding export and fairly good domestic demand. Poor crop conditions in Russia and India wheat producing areas combined with strong precious metals markets to move wheat markets higher.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets showed strength as poor wheat crops in India and Russia reduced world grain production.

Dry soils in southwestern U.S. wheat areas is reducing wheat pasturage and slowing germination of newly seeded fields. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved 10 cents higher and up $1.10 compared with a year ago. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 12 cents higher, up nearly $1.00 from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat advanced 22 cents as ship loadings picked up sharply at Duluth following settlement of strikes. The 14 percent protein moved up 22 cents and $1.26 above a year ago. Medium milling quality hard amber durum rose 45 cents up $2.40 to $2.42 from last season with most demand from Duluth export movement. Portland soft white wheat fell 10 cents as export outlets fell off. higher, up nearly $1.00 from last season.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved surprisingly higher in face of new crop harvest expansion into the upper midwest.

Good feed demand coupled with well regulated farm selling and larger than expected export demand furnished the strength. Chicago 1 to 2 yellow corn finished 4 cents higher and 64 cents above last season. Kansas City milling quality white corn went up 5 cents reflecting strength in the grains as trade continues very slow.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats traded in a mixed trend as the Chicago market declined 2 cents under slow buying interest. The Minneapolis oats market rose 6 to 7 cents per bushel as light country selling failed to supply the short buying interest. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to up 10 cents with export interest expanding and the brewing season declining. Minneapolis feed barley rose 10 cents and 72 cents above last season.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets gained strength from export demand and a higher cash corn market. Kansas City yellow sorghum went up 8 cents. The current price is $1.10 above last season. The Texas High Plains sorghum market rose 15 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Expanding soybean harvest forced soybean prices lower in spite of good processor buying interest.

Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 16 cents, which is 35 cents over comparable date last year. Minneapolis flaxseed ranged 5 cents higher as crusher raised bids attempting to pull flax out of farm hands. Sunflower seed traded mixed; unchanged Minneapolis but down 10 cents per hundred pounds at Duluth-Superior. Sunflower seed prices are 35 to 60 cents under last season and farmers are holding newly harvest seed for higher prices.

WHEAT AND MOST FEED GRAINS MOVE LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and most feed grains moved to lower price levels across the nation during the week ended October 11. Contributing weakness was the heavy harvest crush of corn, soybeans and sorghum, and the higher cost of doing business as prime interest rates moved to new highs. Softening the price fall originated in continued heavy export movement and sales of wheat and corn, orderly farm selling and dry condition over much of the Pacific Northwest and Southern Plains. Winter wheat seeding is being delayed as farmers are planting in dry soils hoping for adequate rains to germinate and maintain plants before severe winter weather arrives.

WHEAT:

Heavy wheat export movement contributed some support as high interest rates and lack of adequate transportation facilities to move grain depressed the market. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 17 cents. This is 89 cents above comparable date last year. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 28 cents lower, but 77 cents above last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat declined 21 cents for ordinary protein.

CORN:

Corn markets declined under pressure of heavy crop prospects and expanding harvest in spite of heavy export sales activity. Many elevators reported unable to bid for new grain due to inability to move grain. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn fell 7 cents, but was 55 cents above last season. Kansas City milling quality white corn traded 5 cents under the mid-week high.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved mixed as slow demand at Chicago moved prices 6 cents lower for the week, but up 7 cents compared with last year. Minneapolis market rose 2 cents under expanded buying interest. Minneapolis best malting barley rose 5 cents as sunflower seed movement took priority over barley. Current price ranged 90 cents to $1.00 over last season. Feed barley moved mixed with the Minneapolis market 10 cents lower.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets moved mostly lower under pressure of lower cost corn as harvest rapidly expanded. Kansas City yellow sorghum went down 12, but up 89 cents per hundred pounds from last year. Texas High Plains market fell 10 to 15 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Heavy soybean harvest of a record crop depressed soybean prices in spite of good crusher demands. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 29 and down 12 cents from last season. Lower oil and meal values contributed weakness at the close. Minneapolis flaxseed traded 10 cents higher due to lack of farm selling. Sunflower seed closed mixed with the Duluth market 10 cents lower. Export loading was not as urgent as in the past couple of weeks. Minneapolis sunflower seed traded 30 cents higher as processing plants are mostly crushing sunflower seed and holding flax crush for later in the season.

WHEAT STRONG - OILSEEDS WEAK

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat markets turned stronger across the nation during the week ended October 18.

Support came from good flour mill and export demand coupled with reports of adverse weather conditions in Russia and delayed planting and germination of hard red winter wheat in the Southwest U.S. Soybean markets fell sharply under pressure from record production and nearly ideal weather which permitted rapid harvest and favored storage on farms due to the low moisture content of beans as harvested. Freight rate increases and large stocks of feed grains depressed most feed grain markets.

WHEAT:

Wheat showed a much stronger tone as export and flour mill buying interest kept moderate farm offerings cleaned up, additional support came from reports of adverse weather conditions in Russia and shorter wheat crops in competing wheat exporting countries. At Kansas City, hard red winter wheat, ordinary protein, traded 11 cents higher, and $1.00 per bushel over last year. At Chicago, soft red winter wheat moved up 11 cents, up 92 cents over last season. At Minneapolis, dark northern spring wheat, advanced 9 to 12 cents, currently $1.10 to $1.16 over last season. Minneapolis hard amber durum held unchanged as export interest remained dull. Portland soft white wheat advanced 19 cents as export demand continues to outstrip last year.

CORN:

Large corn crop prospects and higher freight rates depressed yellow corn markets. Larger than expected carryover stocks contributed to the weaker trend. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow corn fell 8 cents, but is 53 cents per bushel higher than year ago market. Kansas City, milling quality white corn traded in a 5 cent range all week but closed unchanged in thin trade.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats traded mostly higher as demand expanded. At Chicago, heavy oats closed 2 cents higher, up 21 cents over last year. Minneapolis best malting barley traded at unchanged prices all week, up 85 cents to $1.00 compared with last season. Higher freight rates raised feed barley in California markets. Stockton feed barley moved up 2-5 cents.

SORGHUM:

Lower corn markets, coupled with spreading corn and sorghum harvest, moved cash sorghum markets mostly lower in producing areas. The Kansas City market closed slightly lower and the Texas high plains market was steady to 5 cents lower. Current prices are 80-90 cents over comparable time last year.

OILSEEDS:

Heavy harvest of a record soybean crop depressed oilseed markets. Oil and meal prices moved down with cash soybean prices. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 28 cents per bushel and are 28 cents lower than last year. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 40 cents as crusher continued operating on sunflower seed. Minneapolis sunflower seed fell 50 cents per hundred pounds as harvest expanded.

STATISTICS

October 26, 1979

NATIONAL GRAIN MARKET REVIEW

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains worked generally lower across the nation during the week ending October 25. Timely rains benefited the winter wheat crop. Large stocks of old crop feed grains coupled with heavy production and less disappearance than expected contributed to the weakness. Orderly selling at the farm level and potentially large export sales gave underlying support.

WHEAT:

Larger than expected carryover figures coupled with less usage than expected depressed wheat markets. Rain and snow provided much needed moisture for the growing winter wheat crop. Kansas City hard red winter wheat fell 3 cents for ordinary protein but is 84 cents over last season. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 11 cents but is 65 cents over comparable date last year. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat fell 16-17 cents but up 75 cents over last season. Portland soft white wheat fell 14-21 cents which is 29-36 cents over last season. Minneapolis rye traded unchanged to 20 cents lower as buying interest turned slow.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved lower under weight of tight storage conditions. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn fell 18 cents, up 23 cents over last year. Kansas City white corn fell 18 cents in slow trade.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and feed barley declined along with feed grains.

SORGHUM:

Heavy harvest and declining feed business depressed sorghum markets. Kansas City yellow sorghum dropped 19 cents, 41 cents per hundred pounds over last season. Texas High Plains market declined 15 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Heavy harvest offset the heavy soybean crush and soybean prices fell sharply. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans dropped 20 cents and is 72 cents under comparable date last year. Minneapolis flaxseed held unchanged. Duluth sunflower seed were 10 cents higher and Minneapolis advanced 30 cents as processors continue to crush heavily.

WEEKLY
SUMMARY
AND STATISTICS

November 2, 1979

SOYBEANS LOWER, WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS MOSTLY LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybeans traded sharply lower across the nation during the week ended November 1. Prices showed some recovery at mid-week as rains delayed harvest over much of the main production areas. Wheat and feed grains traded mostly lower as transportation problems, heavy production, lower precious metals markets and high interest rates combined to depress prices. Tight holding policy of wheat farmers contributed strength to hard red winter wheat as flour mills had to bid the market higher to pull wheat out of farm hands to replace heavy flour grind.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved mostly lower as transportation problems continue. Hard red winter wheat excepted the lower price trend and moved up on tight holding at the farm level and strong buying interest from four mills to replace heavy flour grind. Hard red winter wheat flour mills are expected 6 to 7 day runs through December. Kansas City ordinary protein hard red winter wheat moved up 4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat market fell 1 cent for ordinary protein and 11 cents for 14 protein. Chicago soft red winter wheat fell 32 cents. Portland soft white wheat went down 14 cents as port congestion continued to limit demand.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets showed strength at mid-week as rain and snow delayed harvest and threatened to lodge corn in several areas. Clearing weather on Thursday caused markets to resume seasonal price decline. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn finished 9 cents lower. Kansas city milling quality white corn held unchanged all week in dull trade. Truck delivered white corn fell 10 cents at Atchison, Kansas.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats trade continued light and small change in demand moved the market mostly in a narrow price range. The Chicago market finished unchanged. The Minneapolis market fell 1 to 5 cents with a lack of mill buying and reduced farmer offerings. Minneapolis best malting barley held unchanged. Feed grade dropped 10 cents at Minneapolis as export demand fell off. Portland feed grade barley went down 6 to 8 cents due to slowed export movement.

SORGHUM

Sorghum prices moved lower following corn price declines in spite of good feeder interest. Kansas City No. 2 sorghum went down 7 cents and Texas High Plains sorghum went down 5 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybeans markets fell sharply under pressure and lack of adequate transportation to move soybeans. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 12 cents. Other markets posted lesser declines and the Minneapolis market closed 4 cents higher due to heavy demand at crushing plants. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 60 cents as crushers continue to process sunflower seed. Sunflower seed also declined as slow export demand caused stocks to build. Duluth price fell 40 cents and Minneapolis market went to cents lower.

WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS MOSTLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains traded mostly higher across the nation during the week ended November 8. A private crop report, news of political unrest, the USDA crop report due Friday were influencing factors. Rain or snow delayed harvest over much of the country and this took some pressure off the market. Tight farm holding of wheat prompted mills to reach out for supplies by paying premiums, especially for the higher protein wheats. Exporters did not compete for high protein wheats, but bought soft red winter to load ships waiting at Gulf ports.

WHEAT:

Flour mills furnished the strength for most classes of hard winter and dark northern spring wheats. Export demand firmed soft red wheat at the Gulf and white wheats in the Pacific northwest. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein traded 6 cents higher, up $1.01 from comparable date last year. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 14 cents, up 46 cents from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheats moved upward with the high proteins showing the greatest strength. Ordinary protein moved up 7 cents, while 14% rose 8 cents or 86 cents higher than last year. Medium milling quality hard amber durum held unchanged all week and was $1.60 to $1.70 above last season. Portland soft white wheat moved 19-22 cents higher and was 37 to 41 cents above year ago level.

CORN:

Rain and snow delayed corn harvest over wide areas. Broad buying interest kept offerings cleaned up and prices advanced. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved 5 cents higher, up 19 cents from last season. Kansas City white corn traded 15 cents higher as buyers competed for meager milling quality offerings. The current price is 33 cents over last year at the same time.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Light buying interest and the large supply of low quality offerings, forced markets mostly lower for oats and barley. Chicago heavy oats moved 4 cents higher, but buyers selected top quality offerings only. The Minneapolis market traded steady to 2 cents lower. Minneapolis best malting barley moved steady to 25 cents lower, but was 55 cents to 80 cents over comparable date last year. Portland feed barley slid 4 cents lower but with a firmer undertone late as buyers needed grain to replace stocks.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets advanced as rain and snow delayed harvest. Feeders and exporters competed for offerings and farmers were not willing to sell. At Kansas City, No. 2 yellow sorghum advanced 10 cents, per hundred pounds up 58 cents from year ago level. Texas high plains market rose 5 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Rain and snow delayed oilseed harvest with about half of the sunflower seed remaining in the field. Most soybeans are under cover but farmers were reluctant sellers at current price levels. Best buying interest originated at crushing plants. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans moved 16 cents higher, but this is 36 cents under year ago. Minneapolis flaxseed, with virtually no farm offerings, moved 10 cents higher, but 50 cents under last season. Duluth sunflower seed traded 35 cents per hundred pounds higher and the Minneapolis market 30 cents higher. Current sunflower seed prices range $1.60-$1.75 below year ago markets.

SOYBEANS STRONG-WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS MOSTLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybeans traded sharply higher across the nation during the week ended November 15. Tight holding at the farm level coupled with processors strong demand moved the market up. Wheat and feed grains moved mostly higher supported by good export business. Favorable harvest weather forecast for the weekend took the leading edge off grain markets at the close. Tight storage in southern areas forced some grain into barges on the Mississippi river and barge rates jumped 60 to 90 on the mid and lower Mississippi.

WHEAT:

Continued good export demand coupled with heavy export and family flour business moved wheat markets higher. A lull in bakery flour business depressed grind replacement at the close. Kansas City hard red ordinary wheat closed 6 cents higher, up $1.07 compared with last year. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 12 cents higher or 59 cents over last season. Concentration on corn and soybeans at the close cut mid week wheat advance around 10 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat traded unchanged to 22 cents higher as strong export demand was offset at the close by congested port facilities. Dark northern spring ordinary protein finished unchanged from a week ago. Portland soft white wheat closed unchanged to 3 cents higher as a sharp mid week price advance pulled heavy offerings off farms.

CORN:

Corn markets advanced sharply, fueled by large export business and a surprising tight holding pattern by farmers as harvest neared completion. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn traded 8 cents higher. Mid week prices had been higher than the close but clearing weather permitted harvest resumption. With weather forecast mostly favorable for the weekend, prices regressed 2 to 3 cents from mid week high.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved sharply higher as mills needed replace stock. Chicago heavy oats traded 6 cents higher. Minneapolis best malting barley moved unchanged to 5 cents lower as offerings exceeded the seasonally slow demand. Minneapolis feed barley rose 20 cents under good export buying. Stockton barley rose 1 cent.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets advanced under expanded feeder and export demand, tending to follow higher cost corn up. Kansas City sorghum moved 17 cents higher, while the Texas High Plains market moved 5 to 10 cent over last week.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets moved higher mostly on expanded processor demand and tight holding at the farm level. Higher soybean oil and meal markets kept crushers margins favorable. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 30 cents higher and up 8 cents compared with last season. Minneapolis flaxseed traded 50 cents higher as crushers needed grain to keep plants operating. Sunflower seed markets moved steady to lower when export demand fell seasonally as the Lakes shipping season neared closing time. Duluth sunflower seed fell 5 cents. The Minneapolis market held unchanged at $9.40 per hundred pounds.

WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved in a mixed price trend across the nation during the holiday shortened week ending November 21. Continued heavy export business furnished much of the strength but good flour mill buying of wheat and processor buying soybeans contributed good support. A blast of wintry weather at the close added a stronger undertone as remaining harvest will be delayed. Winding down of northern river barge season and the approaching mid December lake shipping season close tempered demand in the northern areas. Lack of adequate rail shipping facilities and tight storage situation limited trade at some points.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved mostly higher as mill and export demand kept well regulated farm offerings cleaned up. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter wheat traded 5 to 6 cents higher. Current prices range $1.14 to $1.28 over comparable date last year. Chicago soft red winter wheat rose 6 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat traded 4 cents lower for the ordinary through 13 percent protein but 14 percent protein rose 1 cent. Hard amber durum declined 5 to 20 cents due to heavy offerings and the nearby closing of the lakes shipping season which is limiting export demand. Portland soft white wheat moved up 3 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets responded to heavy export movement and continually expanding new export sales to post generally higher prices. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved up 8 cents. Congestion at some storage centers limited price advance and the Memphis market eased 3 cents lower. Kansas City white corn held unchanged all week in extremely dull trade.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oat markets moved mixed as demand slowed but offerings continued very light. Chicago heavy oats moved 8 cents higher. The Minneapolis market moved unchanged to 2 cents lower. Minneapolis best malting barley ranged steady to 5 cents lower due to seasonally slow brewing demand. Feed barley held unchanged at Minneapolis but the Portland market fell 4 cents, as export buying slowed. Stockton feed barley rose 1 to 2 cents with good demand for all feedstuffs supporting the market.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets moved higher supported by good feeder and export interest. Kansas City sorghum advanced 12 cents while the Texas High Plains market went up 5 to 10 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets closed in a mixed price trend with some markets showing recovery from early week losses. Congestion at elevators depressed prices but strong crusher buying added support. Good export demand for soybean meal and oil contributed strength. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed unchanged while Illinois processing point bids rose 5 to 6 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 15 cents as crushers switched from sunflower seed. Duluth sunflower seed held unchanged as shippers needed seed to top off export ships.

GRAIN MARKETS GENERALLY WEAKER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets moved lower across the nation during the week ending November 29.

During the later part of the week export demand backed off sharply with some contracts previously booked for export being retendered in the open market. Also contributing to the weaker demand was congestion at several port locations. Domestic demand by processors softened the weakness somewhat.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved generally lower. Putting pressure on interior markets was the nearing of the end of navigation on the Great Lakes and the nearness to the end of barge shipments on the upper Mississippi River. Mill demand held fairly well to cover heavy flour mill grind time that has been previously booked. At Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter traded 10 1/4 cents under last week's close while at Minneapolis dark northern spring ordinary protein closed 11 1/4 cents lower while 14 percent protein closed 15 1/4 cents lower. White wheat at Portland closed 2-4 lower per bushel.

CORN:

Markets moved mixed with southern barge points showing some strength and northern markets tending slightly weaker. Cold weather moved over much of the country, causing improved demand from feeding interest as well as halting the remaining harvest. At Chicago No. 2 yellow corn 1/2 cent lower. At Kansas City white corn held firm at.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Midwest barley markets held firm with demand in line with offerings while West Coast markets eased as offerings picked up. Oats markets were mixed with offering of quality material fairly were limited. At Chicago No. 2 heavy oats gained 4 1/2 cents per bushel. At Minneapolis best malting barley was unchanged to 10 cents lower while feed barley was firm at $2.16.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets weakened reflecting weaker corn markets along with a weakening feed demand. At Kansas City No. 2 yellow sorghum moved 7 cents lower per cwt.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets weakened midsession but gained strength later. Cut-back in export interest was the prime weakening factor. Processor demand held strong throughout. At Chicago No. 2 yellow soybeans closed 9 cents lower. Flaxseed held firm while sunflower seed fell, feeling the effect of soft export interest.

WHEAT LOWER - FEED GRAINS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat markets moved sharply lower and feed grains traded in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended December 6. While export shipments against previous sales moved at near record rate. New business was scarce and some expected sales went to competing countries. Congestion at ports increased as shippers rushed to get barges out of northern rivers before hard freezing occurred. Flour mills need less wheat due to amount of holidays occurring toward the end of the year and the beginning of the new year. Feed business furnished good support to cash grain but lower prices for soybean meal and oil weakened cash soybean markets.

WHEAT:

Loss of some expected export wheat business and seasonal downtime scheduled for holidays by flour mills weakened wheat markets. Fair expansion in country selling increased hedge pressure further depressing prices. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 4 cents but this is 102 above last year at comparable time. Chicago soft red winter wheat dipped 9 cents, remaining 18 cents above last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 protein wheat fell 6 cents, up 71 cents from year ago figures. Portland soft white wheat dropped 9 to 11 cents, up 31-33 cents a bushel from last season.

CORN:

Yellow corn traded lower at most markets as congestion at Gulf Ports and closing of upper river systems pressured the market in the face of fair country selling. The Chicago and Minneapolis markets remained over last week with the Chicago markets 2 cents higher and 36 cents a bushel higher than year ago figures. Prices moved higher as millers' attempted to buy stocks and farmers held supplies tightly.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets eased a little in slow trade. Chicago heavy oats traded 1 cent lower but still 28 cents above last year. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 10 cents lower at Minneapolis as export needs had been filled. Portland feed barley advance 5 cents under tight produce holding.

SORGHUM:

Good processor and feeder buying supported Kansas City sorghum market which closed 2 cents higher. High cost wheat middlings contributed support. Texas High Plains sorghum traded unchanged to 5 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets weakened under pressure of expanded farmer offerings and lower prices for soybean meal and oil. Crusher demand remained good as processing plants maintained favorable margins. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybean fell 12 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed held firmly as processor scheduled December crush. Sunflower seed prices fell 25 cents at Duluth as export season ended and crusher switched to flaxseed.

WHEAT MOSTLY STRONGER FEED GRAINS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat traded stronger at all but Pacific Northwest ports and feed grains traded in a mixed trend across the nation during the week ended December 13. Record inspections for export and higher gold and silver markets contributed strength. Congestion at ports, closing of northern rivers to barge traffic and nearing end to Lakes shipping season were weakening factors. Farmers expanded selling, but contracted sharply on market declines. Good feed and processor buying interest contributed strength. Winter wheat growth remains mostly short and provided little graze for livestock. Hard freezes limited pasture growth over most of the nation.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved mostly higher in response to good flour mill demand, continued high export loadings and well regulated farm selling. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded 4 cents higher, up $1.15 from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein ranged 4 cents higher, up 87 cents per bushel compared with last season. Chicago soft red winter wheat rose 18 cents up 58 cents over last year. Portland soft white wheat fell 4 to 6 cents, but remained 40 cents a bushel above last year. Minneapolis rye traded steady to 10 cents lower with mill demand slow.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets traded mostly higher as record export inspections, good feeder and processor demand outweighed fairly heavy farm selling. Harvest neared completion and farmers wanted to get grain off the ground and into storage. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn closed 1 cent higher, up 42 cents from year ago price level. Kansas City milling quality white corn held at $3.28 per bushel all week with mill buying interest steady, but lack of adequate transportation facilities hampered trade. Current price is 28 cents over last year.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats traded mixed as limited demand at Minneapolis depressed the market 7 to 8 cents. Lack of good mill quality offerings at Chicago raised bids 5 cents, up 34 cents from comparable date last year. Minneapolis malting barley traded unchanged to 5 cents lower as heavy farm offerings met a seasonally slow brewery buying interest. Feed barley markets responded to expanded winter feeding and prices moved higher. Portland feed barley ranged 8 cents higher, up 70 cents a bushel from a year ago.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets moved mixed as congested export facilities caused diversion of grain to other outlets. Processor and feeder usage expanded to move the Kansas City market 4 cents higher. The Texas High Plains market closed unchanged, but the Los Angeles market eased 1 cent lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved higher as favorable crush margins kept processors in the market all week. The heavy soybean crush did not burden the supply line as export and domestic feed buying kept offerings cleaned up. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybean advanced 8 cents. This is 38 cents below comparable date last year. Minneapolis flaxseed held at $6.15 per bushel. Sunflower seed fell 50 cents at Duluth and declined 10 cents at Minneapolis. Sunflower seed weakness was attributed to nearness of seasonal close at Duluth port and the weaker foreign edible oil market.

WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

December 20. Market depressing information was plentiful but generally offset by news that contributed market strength. News supporting higher markets was strength in gold and silver, expanding export possibilities in China, Mexico, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Brazil and Nigeria where floods or drought cut into grain production. Down side news came from reduced inspection for export figures, closing of the lakes and northern rivers to transportation, the holiday lull as mills and processors schedule extensive down time starting next week, and unseasonably mild temperatures over much of the nation.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets recovered sharply as world news indicated increase export volume possibilities.

Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved 4 cents higher. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 10 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 protein closed 1 cent higher. Portland soft white wheat moved 8 cents higher.

CORN:

Corn markets closed mixed after sharply lower markets mid week. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn finished 3 cents lower as the last lake vessel was being loaded. Kansas City yellow corn moved up 2 cents per bushel due to increased exporter buying interest. Current yellow corn values are nearly 40 cents over last season. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged all week in light trade. Buyers stated nearby needs were not being covered by offerings and prices may be advanced to pull additional out of farm hands.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Strong eastern demand pulled Chicago heavy oats up 2 cents. Minneapolis oats market declined 2 to 7 cents due to slow mill demand. Minneapolis best malting barley finished unchanged to 10 cents higher as tight farm holding caused malsters to advance prices. Minneapolis feed barley fell 10 cents due to decreased export interest.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum closed mixed, tending to follow cash corn markets as mild temperatures reduced feeder needs and export buying turned sporadic. Kansas City sorghum traded 3 cents higher. Texas High Plains market fell 5 to 10 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets continue to find support from heavy crusher buying. Crusher margins remain fairly wide and good demand for oil and meal for export contributed support. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 3 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady. Sunflower seed fell sharply under pressure from heavy farm selling. Duluth price fell 80 cents and the Minneapolis market dropped 35 cents.
